New Website Feature Assists in Purchasing Products

Victorville, CA. August 5, 2008. Sealing films and other products manufactured by Excel Scientific can be purchased from distributors in the United States and internationally. However, finding specific products on distributors' websites can sometimes be difficult. With a number of its distributors cooperating to assure products are listed in their online stores and available from stock, a new feature of Excel Scientific's website assists in locating items. Going to the product description on Excel's website and clicking the "Buy" button will bring up options to select a distributor serving your area and automatically find the product in the distributor's online store.
